

Thomas Tobiassen
SENIOR MANAGER

Tom is a Senior Manager with Simione Healthcare Consultants Information Technology Consulting Services Division.

Tom has over 15 years of home health and hospice related experience in IT Project Management, IT Customer Service, all aspects of computer software technical analysis, and development and installation.

Tom's experience as a Project Manager includes home health and hospice software implementation with agencies of all sizes, all home care business lines, and with multiple vendors. Tom's expertise is in building and managing relationships with his clients and with application technologists to ensure successful strategies while deploying solutions.

Tom's experience prior to Simione included working as a Senior Project Manager for a national software company for large multistate clients. Tom is a graduate of MS Information Systems - IS Management /Enterprise Systems Management from Stevens Institute of Technology. He holds a B.A. from College of New Jersey and a Graduate Certificate in Project Management, PMI Certification from Stevens Institute of Technology.